

Chapter 8

Monitor, Washington

After leaving Cashmere the Hollister Apple Ranch in Monitor was the next place Courchane family found employment. Sassy remembers that they worked in the orchards wherever they could and were constantly moving about, some places like the Hollister Ranch had cabins for them to live in. While here Momma noticed that her silverware and jewelry, or anything that was shiny started to disappear, one by one. At first she thought maybe the kids were taking it. Finally one day the mystery was solved, when they spied a pack rat's nest, and in the nest was all of Mom's lost stuff. Momma was happy to get her things back and I'm sure laughed about it in the years to come.

Before leaving the Monitor area they worked for John Weythman picking cherries, staying in a picker's cabin. Also they picked apricots or peaches for an old farmer while in this area; Sassy can't remember his name though.

Monitor is located between Cashmere and Wenatchee, and in those days the highway ran by the little town [as does the Wenatchee River]. But today the highway is across the river from Monitor and one has to cross bridges to get there. The old highway is now called the Monitor Road, or Old Monitor Highway.

While living in Monitor, Momma and Daddy had a vegetable garden. In this garden lived a snake (Sassy says maybe a garter snake) that would pop its head up every time someone went out to the garden to harvest the vegetables. No matter how many times that Momma, or Sassy, or Donna, tipped toed out to get stuff the snake knew and popped up. It must have felt the vibrations of them walking and curiously looked for the source. It isn't remembered whatever happened to the snake.

The truck in this 1930 photo is one of three the Union Safe-Way store used to deliver groceries to customers. James Carmody established the business on South Wenatchee Avenue in 1929. The Wenatchee World, "Features," pB9, Friday, Nov. 3, 2006 I remember buying candy here when Dale and I were very young.

How The Washington Co-op Benefits Your Community

LESS SEASONAL PRICE FLUCTUATIONS

By supporting prices during periods of surplus, the Association assures better prices to its members for their products.

By storing surplus eggs, poultry and turkeys at such times and releasing them in an orderly manner, the buying public is protected against unduly high prices in periods of scarcity.

Thus the Washington Co-op aids both grower and consumer by helping level off the peaks and valleys of prices on these products.

American Farm Families, operating their individual business and working together through their own co-operative association, are the finest example of Free Enterprise!

WHERE DID YOU GET THESE LOVELY NEW LINENS?

THEY'RE NOT NEW. I MADE THEM SNOWY-WHITE, SANITARY, TOO, WITH CLOROX!

It's mighty flattering when old linens are mistaken for new. And millions of housewives have learned the secret of making white cottons and linens showy-white, of brightening fast colors. They use Clorox in laundering. It's just that simple. Clorox bleaches extra-gently, lessens rubbing, lets linens last longer. Clorox also disinfects, deodorizes and removes stains.

Make Kitchen "Danger Zones" Hygienically Clean! The drainboard, sink, refrigerator, dishcloth, mop—these may be germ "danger zones." Reduce risk by disinfecting them with Clorox. Simply follow directions on the label.

Hidden Bathroom Germ Danger! Invisible germ dangers often exist on seemingly clean surfaces. Use Clorox in routine cleansing as an added safeguard to health.
