1787: September 23, James s/o James and Elizabeth Jory was baptized [Cornwall Co, England Parish Registers, Baptisms 1675-1796]

1830 – April 3, left England on an old lumber ship named the Restitution with his family & took 8 weeks & 5 days to get to St. Johns, New Brunswick, Canada.

1830 – June 4, arrived in Canada & farmed in poor soil. Later they decided to move to St. John, New Brunswick where James Sr. used his skills as a mechanic. John & James Jr. cut timber.

1836 – Oct. 25 or 31, Sailed to NY on the Mary Elizabeth because they wanted to cut through the Erie Canal in search of fertile farming land in Northern Canada.

1836 – Nov. 7 left NY. Changed their minds about Canada & instead headed for Missouri on a ship called the Franklin. Took 6 weeks & 5 days to get to New Orleans.

1836 – Nov. 28, traveled from New Orleans to St. Lewis MO. On a steam boat named the George Collier.

1836 – Dec. 11, they arrived at New Orleans just before Christmas. Worked on the farm of a leading citizen, Colonel John O’Fallon.

1837 - They were shocked that blacks were treated as slaves and decided to move across the river to Pittsfield, Pike County, Illinois in the fall of 1837 & buy a farm of 40 acres part prairie & part timber.

1840 – The family is living at Spring Creek Township, Pike County, Illinois. The Budds and John Fenn newly married to Mary Jory lived nearby.

1846 –James Jr., married & bought the original farm of 40 acres at or before this time, while James Sr. moved to a farm in Mt. Sterling, Brown Co. about 40 miles away. The Jory’s were doing well financially, however James Jr. was afraid of Malaria which was prevalent in the county. He talked his entire family to move to Oregon, except Henry.

1847 – In the spring they traveled the Oregon Trail. James Jory Jr. agreed to meet his father & brothers at Independence, but was unable to locate them when he got there. He went on without them & the families reunited at Umatilla.

1847 - They arrived in Oregon City in Dec. 25. They spent the winter there. Next they came up the valley to Mission Bottom where they spent a year or more working and looking for a place to settle finally staking a claim south of Salem.

1884 – John Sr. begins to have kidney trouble & suffers from it the rest of his life.

Age and disease from a combination against which it is hard to battle with cheerfulness and fortitude. So when an aged person desperately seeks to end the struggle by the aid of a deadly drug an instinctive pity for his condition is felt that is not aroused by a like desperate act in a man who is young, and comparatively well equipped to overcome misfortune and endure suffering. The announcement of the attempted suicide of an aged and respected citizen of Marion county, John H. Jory, was heard with regret and sympathy, and while life under the circumstances which environ him is void of enjoyment, it may yet be hoped that an honored career will not end in a manner so sad and sorrowful, but that nature may successfully resist the desperate assault upon the citadel of life to take it in due time by a quiet and peaceful process.

Oregonian May 11, 1890 p.6

“The Late John Jory of Salem, a Pioneer of 1847--John H. Jory – Salem, Oregon, June 15, 1899--John H Jory, oldest son of James and Mary (Stephens) Jory. An Oregon pioneer, born July 7, 1815, died of old age at the home of his son H. F. Jory, in this city last evening. He was born in Cornwall, England 84 years ago, coming to America in 1836. In 1846, he married Caroline Budd. The following year they crossed the plains with a team of oxen, settling in Marion County. John leaves his wife and five children. His sons James and Hughy live in Marion County. His daughter Mrs. Mary Holmes is from San Francisco, Calif. and daughter Mrs. Emma Laskey of Benton County. His son Daniel lives in Grants Pass, Oregon. Also surviving are his brothers James, Thomas, William and Hugh. The family is well known in this part of the State.” [From Florence Jory Baer’s scrapbook]

“A pioneer gone; John H Jory passes to his eternal home – born in England John H. Jory, a pioneer of Oregon, passed from this life on Wednesday evening, June 14, 1899, at the residence of his son, Hugh F. Jory, on east Court street, this city.

He was aged 81 years having breathed for the first time in cornwall, England, July 7, 1815. In 1836 he came to America, settling near Pittsfield, Pike county, Illinois, where he resided until 1847, when he crossed the plains to Oregon, having taken unto himself a wife, in the person of Caroline Budd, on January 1, 1846. To them ten children were born, five of whom are living, viz: James W., and Hugh F., of Marion county; Daniel F., of Grants Pass; Mary A. Holmes, of San Francisco; and Emma Laskey, of Benton county. The wife and mother also survives him, together with his four brothers, - H. S., James, Thomas, and William, of South Salem.

When he reached Oregon he came direct to what is now Marion County and settled on a donation land claim south of Salem, at present known as Rosedale.

He was a constant member of the Methodist denomination.

During the last fifteen years of his life he suffered greatly from kidney trouble.

The funeral will take place at the residence of Hugh F. Jory, at 2 p.m. tomorrow (Saturday); a brief service will be conducted, and the remains will be taken to the Rosedale cemetery for interment. Rev. T. F. Royal, of South Salem, will officiate at the funeral.” [Oregon Statesman 16 June 1899 6:4.]

1899 – June 14, John died of old age at the home of his son, H. F. Jory in Salem. He was 84. Buried at the Jory Cemetery near Rosedale.

About 1900 Daniel purchased a farm in Blodgett Valley where he resided until about a month before his death. He went to Grants Pass for health benefits, but died of heart disease soon after he got there. Member of the Christian Church.

1902, May 14, Daniel & Sophronia Jory purchased $\frac{3}{4}$ acre S35 T11 R5 in Benton Co. It is farm land near Corvallis. They sold it in June 23, 1902.

Saphronia Laskey is the daughter of Oliver John Laskey & Olive Elizabeth Clark. She is the sister of Joseph Laskey who married Emma Jory below. They have a step-sister named Surbrina Laskey Burbank-Paige-Craven who is buried at the Kings Valley Cemetery under a very large bush or tree, next to her daughter and her husband, Alice and William Wellman. She is the daughter of Oliver Laskey and a previous wife.

She was living in Benton Co., OR in 1899. Living in Blodgett in Benton Co., in 1904. Joseph was b. July 16, 1837 in Morgan Twp, Ashtabula, OH & died before 1924. His probate was done in Benton County, though he died and was buried at Acme, Point Terrace, Lane County, OR. His parents were Oliver John Laskey & Olive Elizabeth Clark. In the 1870 census records Joseph is a rail-splitter. The Laskeys were loggers and millworkers.

Second Emma married George LaRose on 22 Feb. 1924 in Benton County where she had homesteaded a place at Blodgett with her sons before 1900. You'll find her there on the censuses of 1900 through 1930 which means that George could have passed away before 1930. I suspect she was the caretaker of the clan, as many marriages took place at her home in Polk County before moving to Benton County. – Carolyn

Children of John Fenn and Mary Jory:

i. Nancy Jane Fenn is b. May 17, 1840 in Pike Co., IL. & d. Feb. 11, 1927 in Portland, OR. Buried in Miller Cemetery in Scio. She married William Angus McPherson in Linn County on 7 October, 1855 in Linn Co., OR by Madison D. Byland. Agnus was b. Feb. 22, 1828 in Chatham Co., NC & d. Jan. 28, 1891 in Portland, OR. His parents were William Picket McPherson & Margaret Wright McDonald. Agnus also buried at the Old Miller Cemetery near Scio, OR. (Have an article on William Agnus McPherson.)

Angus first came to Oregon with a friend in 1850. He loved the country, so he traveled back to Iowa to get his family. He rode on horseback through California, then by ship through the Isthmus, arriving home in 1851. Angus and other family members departed from Keokuk, Iowa, and arrived in Oregon in 1852. Angus settled on a piece of land east of Scio, OR. He received his mail at a post office known as Santiam City. John Fenn & his family, which included Nancy, lived six miles west of Santiam City. Nancy was 15 when she married Angus. Angus taught school in Scio.

William Angus McPherson was the editor of the 'Albany Journal' from 1864 to 1866. He was anti-slavery and persuaded Oregonians to stay with the Union. After being elected State Printer in 1866, he moved to Salem where he established the firm of W.A. McPherson & Co., Printers. This firm bought out the leading newspaper of Salem, the 'Statesman' and changed its name to 'American Unionist.' In 1869, the McPherson family moved to McMinnville, where William began 'The Blade' newspaper, which he ran until 1871. Returning to Linn County, he took up farming until 1873 when they moved to Roseburg, Douglas County, and William became the editor and proprietor of the 'Roseburg Plaindealer.' From Roseburg, they moved to Ashland and he worked with Oliver Applegate in editing the 'Ashland Tidings.' After Ashland, they went to Jacksonville where he ran the 'Jacksonville Times' and then on to Portland, where he worked on various newspapers including the 'Oregonian' and the 'Vindicator.'

1820: February 3, James, s/o James and Mary Jory was baptized by the Vicar. Jory family residing at Derille, James was a carpenter. [St. Cleer Parish, Cornwall Co, England Baptisms 1813-1838, Record #261]

1830 – April 3, left England on an old lumber ship named the Restitution with his family & took 8 weeks & 5 days to get to St. Johns, New Brunswick, Canada.

1830 – June 4, arrived in Canada & farmed in poor soil. Later they decided to move to St. John, New Brunswick where James Sr. used his skills as a mechanic. John & James Jr. cut timber.

1836 – Oct. 25 or 31, Sailed to NY on the Mary Elizabeth because they wanted to cut through the Erie Canal in search of fertile farming land in Northern Canada.

1836 – Nov. 7 left NY. Changed their minds about Canada & instead headed for Missouri on a ship called the Franklin. Took 6 weeks & 5 days to get to New Orleans.

1836 – Nov. 28, traveled from New Orleans to St. Lewis MO. On a steam boat named the George Collier.

1836 – Dec. 11, they arrived at New Orleans just before Christmas. Worked on the farm of a leading citizen, Colonel John O’Fallon.

1837 - They were shocked that blacks were treated as slaves and decided to move across the river to Pittsfield, Pike County, Illinois in the fall of 1837 & buy a farm of 40 acres part prairie & part timber.

1840 – The family is living at Spring Creek Township, Pike County, Illinois. The Budds and John Fenn newly married to Mary Jory lived nearby.

1846 – James Jr. married Sarah Ann Budd, one of three sisters marrying into the family. Sarah was b. in Yipsalanti, MI on Dec. 31, 1827. Her parents were Aaron & Phoebe Ogden Budd. Sara was Methodist & James Jr. also joined her church.

1846 – James Jr. bought the the original farm of 40 acres at or before this time, while James Sr. moved to a farm in Mt. Sterling, Brown Co. about 40 miles away. The Jory’s were doing well financially, however James Jr. was afraid of Malaria which was prevalent in the county. He talked his entire family to move to Oregon, except Henry.

1847 - In spring they went west on the Oregon Trail. The captain of the train was Captain Joseph Magone. James Jory Jr. agreed to meet his father & brothers at Independence, but was unable to locate them when he got there. He went on without them & the families reunited at Umatilla.

1847 – Phoebe Ann is born on the trail at Burnt River near present day Farewell Bend, OR on Sept. 13. (Her birthdate suggests that she could have been born at Burnt Ranch in Wyoming. – Sandy Frediani)

1847 - They arrived in Oregon City in Dec. 25. Their first home is a log cabin on what is now Commercial St., two blocks from the Ladd & Bush bank (in 1929). They spent the first winter with a newborn in Salem. James worked as a mechanic that winter.

1849 – James Jr goes to California to mine gold for several months. He was “reasonably successful.” He made $1100 in gold dust. John Fenn, Thomas & William Jory were also on the trip. (see William Jory)

"JOHN W. JORY, who resides seven miles southwest of Salem, on the Jefferson road, was born December 15, 1850, on the farm on which he now lives, the son of James and Sarah Ann (Budd) Jory. The father was a native of Cornwall. England, born June 9, 1820, and came to America with his father in 1830. locating near St. Johns, New Brunswick, Canada. In 1847 he came to Oregon, settling at Salem, where he resided until 1849, when he went to California to mine gold. There he was reasonably successful but remained only one year, after which he returned to Oregon and located on a donation land claim of Six hundred and forty acres, which is the farm where John W, Jory, of this review, now lives. At first he built a log house with a clapboard roof and, having cleared and cultivated the land, he erected in about 1860 a frame house and a barn. Before the Civil war James Jory gave his support to the democrat party but the righteousness of the Union cause led him in 1861 into the ranks of the republicans. In 1890 he became dissatisfied with the republican principles as they were then interpreted and joined the populist movement, while yet later in life he turn. to the socialist cause, believing that the platform and measures of that party would bring about the most desirable beneficent for the great mass of people and humanity at large. He was a public spirited man. held many local offices and gave much of his time to the cause of education, a great organizer of school districts. He passed away on December 10, 1905, highly esteemed by friends and respected by antagonists for his absolute faithfulness and fearlessness in expressing and defending his convictions. The mother was born in Michigan December 31, 1826. She was married in Illinois in 1846 and is still residing at her home place, having now reached the age eighty-six years. She is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, to which faith the father also adhered. In their family were eleven children: Phoebe A., who resides at home: T.C. who is a teacher in the schools of Dundee, Oregon; John W., the subject of this review; Mary J., who is the wife of F. R. Reynolds of Marion county, Oregon; Elizabeth C., who married Rev. J. Swayne of Centralia, Washington; Martha K.. who resides with her mother; Sarah P., who died at the age of two and one-half years;

Henry D., an editor of North Yakima, Washington; Arthur B., deceased; L. May, at home; and Percy A. who is deceased. All of the members of the family are well educated and four of the sisters are graduates of the Willamette University.

John W. Jory, after completing his course in the district schools, attended the Willamette University for four years after which he returned to the farm and has been connected with the home state ever since except a short time in 1880 which he spent in eastern Oregon. The home place which he operates, contains in one undivided tract, two hundred and seventy-five acres which belong to the heirs. In all he manages over four hundred acres, on which he principally is raising grain and blooded stock.

Mr. Jory gives his political support to the socialist party, and he keeps well informed on the questions and issues of the day. He has held local school offices and has been a great help in the advancement of the welfare of his community. He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and his upright and honorable life has gained for him the high regard in which he is universally held." “Percy Jory dead--Word has just been received of the death of Percy Jory, of Salem, at Dawson City, who was buried on October 13. Mr. Jory will be remembered as one of the first going from Salem, and as a younger brother of John W. and Thos. Jory, of Rosedale. Mr. Jory and Mr. Jo Cavanaugh were some time ago reported as convalescent after a siege of typhoid fever, and while no particulars can be learned, it is supposed that Mr. Jory must have had a relapse.”

buried Jory Cemetery, Rosedale, Marion Co, OR

She was a graduate of Willamette University; taught school; never married and lived with her brother John William JORY until he died. A stone was not erected at that time and her ashes were scattered later.

“Salem native dies – Miss Lily May Jory, member of one of Salem area’s oldest families, whose father came here more than one hundred years ago, died Thursday, after an illness of four months. She was 86.

Miss Jory had spent her entire life in Salem, living for all but six years of it on the old Jory donation land claim seven miles south of Salem. Since 1945, she had lived at the home of a niece, Mrs. Edith Stone at 2305 15th Street, where she died.

Born October 7, 1865, she was one of eleven children of James and Sarah Ann (Budd) Jory. Her father and five brothers came west between 1847 and 1852 with Mr. Jory Sr. being the first of them to arrive in this area. Her five brothers and five sisters predeceased Miss Jory several years ago.

As a young girl, Miss Jory studied oratory at Willamette University. One of her brothers, Thomas C. was a professor of Mathematics there during the 1880’s and 1890’s. Following the death of her parents, Miss Jory lived on the old family home with one brother John and two sisters Mrs. Mattie Myers and Miss Phoebe Jory.

During the early part of her life, Miss Jory was active in young peoples activities at the Hope Chapel Methodist Church and the Rosedale Friends Church.

Besides Mrs. Stone, she is survived by nieces and nephews and several cousins.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the W.T. Rigdon Chapel, with Dr. D.H. Schultz officiating.

Elizabeth Jory married John FENN on the Clatsop Plains in Oct. of 1847 or 49 just after arriving in Oregon Territory. John had married her sister, Mary JORY in 1839 in Pike Co., Ill. and she had died in 1846 and was buried there. John and Mary had 4 known children (Mary Jane, Elizabeth Ann, James William and Thomas Henry); John and Elizabeth had 3 known children (James S., Joseph and Mary)

1822: June 17, Elizabeth, d/o James and Mary Jory was baptized by the Vicar. Jory family residing at Ponton's Piece, James was a carpenter. [St. Cleer Parish, Cornwall Co, England Baptisms 1813-1838, Record #340]

1830 – April 3, left England on an old lumber ship named the Restitution with his family & took 8 weeks & 5 days to get to St. Johns, New Brunswick, Canada.

1830 – June 4, arrived in Canada & farmed in poor soil. Later they decided to move to St. John, New Brunswick where James Sr. used his skills as a mechanic.

1836 – Oct. 25 or 31, Sailed to NY on the Mary Elizabeth because they wanted to cut through the Erie Canal in search of fertile farming land in Northern Canada.

1836 – Nov. 7 left NY. Changed their minds about Canada & instead headed for Missouri on a ship called the Franklin. Took 6 weeks & 5 days to get to New Orleans.

1836 – Nov. 28, traveled from New Orleans to St. Lewis MO. On a steam boat named the George Collier.

1836 – Dec. 11, they arrived at New Orleans just before Christmas. Stayed there for the winter.

1837 - They were shocked that blacks were treated as slaves and decided to move across the river to Pittsfield, Pike County, Illinois in the fall of 1837 & buy a farm of 40 acres part prairie & part timber.

1839 – Sister of Elizabeth, Mary Ann Jory, married John Fenn on Nov. 19 near Pittsfield, Pike County, Illinois. John is b. on Nov. 26, 1810 in England. He was an Englishman, the son of Thomas & Nancy Fenn, both born about 1790 in England. He was born at Alyesworth, North Hamshire, England. In his youth he learned the trade of plasterer and brick mason. In 1828 (age 16), with an older brother, William Fenn, he came over on a sailing vessel. First he landed at Quebec, then Montreal, then Chippewa & finally Pike County, Illinois. In Canada he took up his trade of plasterer. In Pike Co. both brothers were married. He was short, strongly built, with a face of ruddy tan, blue eyes, and blond hair.

1840 – The Jory family is living at Spring Creek Township, Pike County, Illinois. The Budds and John Fenn newly married to Mary Jory lived nearby.

1840 – On 3 November 1840, John Fenn purchased 86.23 Acres in Pike county IL from the BLM for cash. (S 1/2 of NW ¼ of Sec 19 Twp 7-S R 3-W.)

1840 - In the 1840 U. S. Census, Pike County, Illinois, John Fenn is listed with males 10-15=1, 20-30=3; females 15-20=1, 40-50=1, four persons in the household, two engaged in agriculture. The listing was adjacent to James Jury (sic) and six houses from Aaron Budd.

1846 – brother, James Jr., married & bought the original farm of 40 acres at or before this time, while James Sr. moved to a farm at Mt. Sterling, Brown Co. about 40 miles away. The Jory's were doing well financially, however James Jr. was afraid of Malaria which was prevalent in the county. He talked his entire family to move to Oregon, except Henry.

1846 - On 2 January 1846 John and Mary Fenn sold to Joseph Richey of Pike County for $450 (1) the S ½ of the NW ¼ of Sec 19 and (2) the N ½ of the SE ¼ of Sec 17: all in Twp 7 South of the range 3 west, containing 66.23A.

1847 – March 1 (according to Kay Bolinger) Mary Ann Jory Fenn dies of malaria in Nov. in Pike Co., Illinois and was buried on the hillside near their home. Family lore recounts that Mary – on her deathbed - asked her sister Elizabeth to take care of her children and after sufficient time had passed to marry John Fenn and give the children a mother. She had just made a new linsey dresses for herself and her daughters to wear to Oregon. Her daughter, Elizabeth, also remembers a tent made out of material stretched out in the yard of the old home in Illinois “where we children played.”

1847 - In spring they went west on the Oregon Trail. Elizabeth Jory took her sister's place as caretaker of her children. They were part of the Jory party crossing the plains, arriving in Oregon City in late 1847 over the old Barlow Road.

1847 - At Oregon City, he met Dr. John McLoughlin who advised him to go down the river to Clatsop Plains (near Astoria) and spend the winter as food was short in the valley.

1847 – Elizabeth Jory married John Fenn in October on the Clatsop plains in Clatsop Co., OR. (near Astoria) (a land record says Oregon City).

John S. was shown as age 32, occupation a stave maker (slave butten-?), born in OR, father born in England, mother born in WT (?). Also in the household was Adelaide (sic), 29, wife, keeping house, born in CA, x, x; Willie, 10, son, OR, OR, CA; Letta, 7, daughter, OR, OR, CA; Emma, 5, daughter, OR, OR, CA; Arthur 2, son, OR, OR, CA; Eva, 7, niece, OR, Ors, CA; and John, 69, retired brick mason, Eng, Eng, Eng.

1883 - John Fenn died February 20, 1883 at Waitsburg, Washington Territory, and is buried in the IOOF cemetery in Waitsburg, Walla Walla Co., WA. His tombstone says, "He died as he lived, a Christian." (find a grave) (Waitsburg is in southeastern Washington, between Dayton and Walla Walla. Washington became a Territory in 1853 and did not become a state until 1889.)

"Dr. Whitman gave my father a large chest which was recovered from the Indians. No one knew to whom it belonged, so Dr. Whitman gave it to my father to carry on to Oregon, hoping that the owner might be found there. Father's team was, however, giving out and he was compelled to leave the chest by the roadside in the mountains. After we had reached Oregon, I remember we were all gathered around the old fireplace one night when auntie said 'John, I have often wondered what was in the old chest you put by the roadside. There might have been something in it which we could have used for the children.' And father answered her, saying 'No, Elizabeth, I never could have used anything that did not belong to me.'

Except for occasional visits to our grandparents who lived about twenty miles away, the rest of us children stayed at home until we grew up. Times were very hard among the early pioneers of Oregon. Some of us children spent a great deal of time with our grandparents, the Jory family.

As a young girl I remember meeting Dr. McLaughlin, with the Hudson Bay Co. With the money which he brought back from the gold mines in CA, my father bought some horses and he was the only man in the neighborhood who had horses, most of the settlers having only cattle which they had driven across the plains. Father used to loan his team to the neighbors to haul their wheat to the Hudsons Bay Co. in Oregon City." (Elizabeth Nancy Coonc)

In 2009 while clearing out locust trees in the cemetery Cindy Allen found the actual grave of Elizabeth Jory Fenn. Howard Jory originally put up a grave marker in the cemetery for Elizabeth, but at that time he did not know the actual place of her burial. During the 2009 cleaning a footstone was found buried under the dirt near the fence line on the west side. It is not near the other stones. Bev Koutny had been told by an older Jory relative that Elizabeth was not buried in the rows that now have markers so it would appear her original grave has been located.

v. James William Jory
b. 18 Mar 1858 Sangamon Co, IL

“ JAMES WILLIAM JORY, a prominent and successful farmer and stockman of Klamath county, is an extensive landowner, his holdings embracing nine hundred and twenty acres. His birth occurred near Springfield, Illinois, on the 18th of March. 1858, his parents being Henry and Martha Jane (Van Pelt) Jory. the former a native of Cornwall, England, and the latter of this country. In the fall of 1863 the family left Illinois and crossed the plains with teams to Marysville, California, where Henry Jory passed away in 1886. having for several years survived his wife, he was a wagon-maker by trade but devoted his attention to farming in this part of the country and also conducted a store at Marysville for a number of years. Our subject was the fourth in order of birth in a family of nine children, seven of whom still survive.

James William Jory, who was a little lad of five years when he accompanied his parents on their journey to the far west, lived in the vicinity of Marysville until he came to Oregon in the spring of 1886. In the fall of the following year he located permanently in Klamath county, having in 1886, preempted a quarter section of land and homesteaded a tract of similar size. By purchase he has augmented his holdings until at the present time he owns nine hundred and twenty acres of land. He has two hundred and seventy three acres under irrigation and devotes his attention to the pursuits of general farming and stock-raising, in which he has met with gratifying and well merited success. He was the second man to bring a herd of cattle into Klamath county. In 1908 and 1911 he was awarded contracts by the United States government for irrigation work and during the years 1911 and 1912 worked on the Lost river diversion channel. From Ager, California, he hauled the first load of freight that went into the plant of the Electric Light & Power Company at Klamath Falls, Oregon. He has been a freighter and has also cleared considerable land for others as well as for himself. His efforts have contributed in substantial measure to the work of development and improvement here and he is well entitled to a foremost place among the prosperous agriculturists and representative citizens of the Sunset state.

In politics Mr. Jory is a democrat, believing firmly in the principles of that party. The cause of education has ever found in him a stanch champion and, with the exception of two or three terms, he served continuously as school clerk of district No. 25 from 1888 until 1902. During one season he acted in the capacity of road overseer. He is an enterprising and public-spirited man whose record as a public official, as a business man and a private citizen has been so honorable that he has gained the confidence and goodwill of all with whom he has been brought in contact." 1870: Long Bar, Yuba Co, CA, June 25, 1870; Henry Jory, 46, farmer, $0 $1080, Eng; Martha J., 40, keeps house, NY; Emma S., 15, school, IL; Sophie E., 14, school, IL; Henrietta, 13, school, IL; James W., 12, school, IL; Eliza M., 11, school, IL; Malvina J., 8, school, IL; Stephen A., 7, school, CA; Charles F., 5, school, CA; George W., 3, home, CA

Stephen Alvah Jory was b. Jan. 5, 1864 in Marysville, Yuba, CA & d. Aug. 16, 1914 at Outlook, Yakima Co., WA because he had asbestos in his lungs, buried at Old Sunnyside Cemetery in Sunnyside, Yakima Co., WA. At age twenty he moved to Klickitat Co. on Sept. 12, 1884 and worked for his sister, Henrietta, in Dot, WA. Henrietta had become a widow & Stephen came to help her out. Then he purchased one hundred and sixty acres of railroad land, and a timber culture claim comprising one hundred and sixty acres from A. Beldin. He farmed some, built wagons, and had a blacksmith shop in Dot & later in Cleveland WA & Outlook, WA. "His farm is in a high state of cultivation and is well stocked with all accessories that contribute successful farming. At his trade he is said to be an unusually good workman and deserving of the lucrative patronage he now enjoys."

He married at Dot, Klickitat Co., Washington to Barbara Elizabeth Walker on Feb. 14, 1892. She was b. March 26, 1875 in St. Louis, MO & d. Nov. 21, 1971 in Marysville, Yuba, CA. Her parents were Wilburn Allen and Susan Helena (Barrett) Walker of MO. (Susan Helena Barrett was b. Sept. 18, 1856 in Maddison Co., MO and d. Dec. 3, 1892. Buried in Dot at Cleveland Cemetery in Brikelton, WA.) Barbara later married George Jory, Stephen's brother. I think George divorced his first wife.

Stephen also brought a Carousel of wooden horses to the "pioneer picnic" at Cleveland, WA every year. At present it is going into a museum in Cleveland, WA. It is called the Herschell-Spillman Carousel and was built between 1899 & 1901. Stephen ran for public office, and his name is engraved in the wall at the Olympia Capitol Building.

1826: March 12 Thomas, s/o James and Mary Jory was baptized by the Vicar. Jory family residing at Ponton's Piece, James was a carpenter. [St. Cleer Parish, Cornwall Co, England Baptisms 1813-1838, Record #437]

1830 – April 3, left England on an old lumber ship named the Restitution with his family & took 8 weeks & 5 days to get to St. Johns, New Brunswick, Canada.

1830 – June 4, arrived in Canada & farmed in poor soil. Later they decided to move to St. John, New Brunswick where James Sr. used his skills as a mechanic.

1836 – Oct. 25 or 31, Sailed to NY on the Mary Elizabeth because they wanted to cut through the Erie Canal in search of fertile farming land in Northern Canada.

1836 – Nov. 7 left NY. Changed their minds about Canada & instead headed for Missouri on a ship called the Franklin. Took 6 weeks & 5 days to get to New Orleans.

1836 – Nov. 28, traveled from New Orleans to St. Lewis MO. On a steam boat named the George Collier.

1836 – Dec. 11, they arrived at New Orleans just before Christmas.

1837 - They were shocked that blacks were treated as slaves and decided to move across the river to Pittsfield, Pike County, Illinois in the fall of 1837 & buy a farm of 40 acres part prairie & part timber.

1840 – The family is living at Spring Creek Township, Pike County, Illinois. The Budds and John Fenn newly married to Mary Jory lived nearby.

1846 – brother, James Jr., married & bought the original farm of 40 acres at or before this time, while James Sr. moved to a farm at Mt. Sterling, Brown Co. about 40 miles away. The Jory's were doing well financially, however James Jr. was afraid of Malaria which was prevalent in the county. He talked his entire family to move to Oregon, except Henry.

1847 - In spring they went west on the Oregon Trail. James Jory Jr. agreed to meet his father & brothers at Independence, but was unable to locate them when he got there. He went on without them & the families reunited at Umatilla.

1847 - They arrived in Oregon City on Dec. 25. They spent the winter there. Next they came up the valley to Mission Bottom where they spent a year or more working and looking for a place to settle. Thomas moved to a farm South of Salem with his parents.

1849 – census of Champoege Co. in March lists Thomas as male over 21.

1849 – Traveled to California to mine gold for one winter. (6 months) Also on the trip were John Fenn, James Jr. & William Jory. (See William Jory).

1851 – Thomas filed a Declaration of Intent to be naturalized in the District Court of Marion County, Territory of Oregon, April 8. (Prior to 1863, most aliens did not seek to be naturalized – they assumed the Declaration of Intent was sufficient.)

1852 – June 28, Thomas settled a 320 acre farm south of Salem.

1853: Marion Co, Census; Thomas Jory, Provisional and Territorial Record #5287

1854 – Thomas filed for a donation land claim.

1854: Marion Co, Tax Roll; Thomas Jory, Provisional and Territorial Record #12277A

1855: Marion Co, Tax Roll; Thomas Jory, Provisional and Territorial Record #12277B

1856: Marion Co, Tax Roll; Thomas Jory, Provisional and Territorial Record #12277C

1857: Marion Co, Tax Roll; Thomas Jory, Provisional and Territorial Record #12277D

1857 – Thomas married Mary Catherine Leabo on Feb. 8 in Salem, OR. The couple went to the Catholic Church. Mary was b. in Indiana on Sept. 10, 1838 & crossed the plains to Oregon with her parents in 1852. At age 54 she was 5' 5", 200 pounds, and dark complexion. Her mother died enroute and was buried near the Platte River at Sweetwater. Mary being the oldest of seven children had the responsibility of caring for the family. Her parents were John Leabo and Nancy Ellison. Nancy was b. in Indiana.

1858: Marion Co, Tax Roll; Thomas Jory, Provisional and Territorial Record #12277E

1859: Marion Co, Tax Roll; Thomas Jory, Provisional and Territorial Record #12277F

1860 – census records show Thomas Jory with wife, GW & MC living in Salem, Santiam Precinct, Marion Co., OR. A family of Leabos are living next door.

1865: Marion Co, Census; Thomas Jory, Marion County Record #p.36

1869 – Thomas' Donation Land Grant Patent is published on April 30 & delivered to him by mail on July 8, 1875.

1878 – July 15 a TS Jory purchased 16.5 acres of farm land near Corvallis. T10 R3 and sold it on the same day.

1880 – census records show Thomas living at South Salem Precinct, Marion, OR. He is a farmer. Others living there are his wife, George, Clarence, Nancy, L D, Olivia, Herbert. Also a boarder, James Coffey is living there. He is 21 & attending school.

1889 – In the 1880's Thomas and Mary Jory were active and able to travel. In 1889, the local paper reported: "Thomas Jory and wife, of the Red Hills south of the city, will start next Tuesday by way of the Northern Pacific for a visit of a month or six weeks with relatives in Belgrade, Montana."

1895 – census records of Marion Co. show Thomas living with his wife, Blanch, Earl, E & R.

1900 – Census records show Thomas living at Yew Park Precinct, Marion, OR. Also living there are his wife & Jessie.

1902 – about this time Thomas moves into the city of Salem.

1910 – April 21 census records show the Thomas & Mary living in South Salem, immediately adjacent to their daughter, Laura Dell, her husband Hiram Page, and their four sons. 9 children with 5 still living.

1912 – Thomas dies at 1:30 am on Oct. 7 in Salem, OR at home & is buried at the Salem Pioneer Cemetery. A very large gathering was at the funeral.

1926 – Mary dies on June 14 in Salem & buried at the Salem Pioneer Cemetery. She was living at her home at 874 South Commercial St. Salem, OR when she passed away. (Her great grandson, Richard Page, was born on the same day.)

Her granddaughter, Florence Jory (Baer) says that Mary was a very self sufficient woman. One time she chased off some Indians who were on her property. When Mary as older her sons moved in with her to help her, but she ended up caring for them. Florence thought Mary was really congenial and generous also. She remembers that her grandmother had a cranberry colored glass bowl filled with sticks of candy. Mary gave Florence a child's chair and made her a dress which she kept for a long time.

AN OREGON PIONEER GOES TO REWARD

Thomas Jory Crossed Plains in 1847--

An Honored Citizen of Salem--

Was Native of Cornwall, England--

Lived in Canada and Illinois Before Coming to Oregon--
Wife and Five Children Survive

In the death of Thomas Jory, which occurred about 1:30 yesterday morning, Salem loses another of the pioneers who crossed the plains in the days long gone by. Thomas Jory was born in Cornwall, England, January 20, 1826, and came to New Brunswick with his parents when he was four years of age. At an early age he moved to Illinois, where the family remained till 1847 and then started across the plains for Oregon with an ox team. After spending six months on the road, the Jory family arrived at Oregon City December 25, 1847, where they spent the winter and then came to Salem. Here they took up a donation land claim five miles south of the city which place Mr. Jory owned at his death. During the gold rush of 1849, he went to California, staying there one winter, after which he returned to Oregon and lived on the home place till about twenty years ago, when he moved into the city. He was married to Mary Leabo, February 8, 1857. Nine children were born as a result of the union, five of whom, with their mother are now living. They are George W., Clarence, Earl H., Mrs. H. R. Page, and Mrs. O. H. Miles. The funeral will be held at 2:30 this afternoon from the Leslie M.E. church on South Commercial street. Rev. P. S. Knight, also an Oregon pioneer, will conduct the services and interment will take place in I.O.O.F. cemetery. [Oregon Statesman 8 October 1912 1:6]

LARGE GATHERING AT JORY FUNERAL;

One of Salem's Oldest Residents is Laid to Rest Yesterday

The funeral of Thomas Jory, one of Salem's oldest citizens, was held yesterday from the Leslie M.E. church. All who knew Mr. Jory loved and respected him and a large gathering attended the last services. Quantities of beautiful flowers were sent by friends and relatives who took this means of honoring the memory of one very dear to them. Rev. P. S. Knight, who knew Mr. Jory for many years, conducted the services. Interment was in the I.O.O.F. cemetery. The pallbearers were all sons and grandsons of Mr. Jory. They were George and Clarence Jory, sons; Walter and Leo Page, grandson. [Oregon Statesman 8 October 1912 p.1]

“WILLIAM JORY. Among the substantial agriculturists of Marion county is William Jory. who resides near Salem. His birth occurred on the 20th of September, 1828, in England, his parents being Mr. and Mrs. James Jory. At the age of twenty-one years, after he had finished his education in the district schools and had spent several years assisting his father on the home farm, he joined the gold seekers leaving for California in 1849. After remaining in that state for one year he removed to Oregon, where he took up the homestead upon which he now resides. At that time it comprised three hundred and twenty acres and by conscientious and diligent labor and untiring energy he has improved and cultivated his lands and so profitable were the returns, that from time to time he has been able to add to his holdings and at present the tract comprises five hundred acres. Ninety acres of this has been planted to fruit and he has met with success in all of his ventures. In his farm work he is energetic and diligent, overcoming all difficulties and obstacles by perseverance and determination. All of the improvements which he has placed upon the farm are of an important character and because of the productivity of the soil which he has greatly increased by judicious cultivation he annually gathers a rich harvest of fruit. In 1860 Mr. Jory was married to Miss Jane E. Moore, whose birth occurred in Canada, her parents being Christopher and Eliza (Crawford) Moore, both natives of Ireland. They came to Canada with their parents when they were very young and remained there until they crossed the plains with ox teams in 1852. They immediately settled in Oregon, locating upon a donation land claim of three hundred and twenty acres in Marion county. This property was their home until their deaths. Mr. and Mrs. Jory were the parents of four children: Ella E., deceased; Walter H.; Ada Estella, residing at home; and Edwin A., who is living at home and is married to Miss Grace

Good. On the 5th of September, 1857, Mrs. Jory's death occurred and she was buried in the Odd Fellow's cemetery at Salem.

In politics Mr. Jory gives his support to the republican party and in religious faith he affiliates with the Methodist Episcopal church. In his eighty-fourth year, yet mentally alert, and hale and hearty in body like a man many years his junior, he has been a resident of the far west for sixty-three years and has made his home for three score years on his homestead. He came here on the dawn of a new epoch and helped materially in transforming a virgin land from a wilderness into bearing fields with ax and plow, a change which to the present generation may well seem like a wonder wrought by magic wand. Good use has he made of the riches nature so lavishly bestowed upon the northwest with generous hand and in this land of seemingly inexhaustible resources he has found the opportunity to develop his latent powers on a field of labor upon which he could expend his enthusiasm, ambition, industry and energy and turn them to good advantage. He has steadily worked upward and here he found and founded a home and attained success, and here he lives out a useful, eventful life in the precious possession of the friendship of many who admire him for his sterling qualities and esteem him one of the important factors that have made possible the prosperous conditions of the present.” [The Centennial History of Oregon by Joseph Gaston Vol III p.91-92]

“At her residence six miles south of Salem, on Monday, September 5th, 1887 at 7 a.m., of heart disease. Mrs. Wm. Jory, aged 48 years. Mrs. Jory was born July 7th, 1839. She was an estimable lady, and highly respected by all who knew her. She will be buried from the home place at 12 m. to-day.” [Weekly Oregon Statesman 9 Sept 1887 8:2]

1836 – Oct. 25 or 3, Sailed to NY on the Mary Elizabeth because they wanted to cut through the Erie Canal in search of fertile farming land in Northern Canada.

1836 – Nov. 7 left NY. Changed their minds about Canada & instead headed for Missouri on a ship called the Franklin. Took 6 weeks & 5 days to get to New Orleans.

1836 – Nov. 28, traveled from New Orleans to St. Lewis MO. On a steam boat named the George Collier.

1836 – Dec. 11, they arrived at New Orleans just before Christmas.

1837 - They were shocked that blacks were treated as slaves and decided to move across the river to Pittsfield, Pike County, Illinois in the fall of 1837 & buy a farm of 40 acres part prairie & part timber.

1840 – The family is living at Spring Creek Township, Pike County, Illinois. The Budds and John Fenn newly married to Mary Jory lived nearby.

1846 – brother, James Jr., married & bought the original farm of 40 acres at or before this time, while James Sr. moved to a farm at Mt. Sterling, Brown Co. about 40 miles away. The Jory's were doing well financially, however James Jr. was afraid of Malaria which was prevalent in the county. He talked his entire family to move to Oregon, except Henry.

1847 - In spring they went west on the Oregon Trail. Hugh was 14 yrs old. James Jory Jr. agreed to meet his father & brothers at Independence, but was unable to locate them when he got there. He went on without them & the families reunited at Umatilla.

1847 - They arrived in Oregon City on Dec. 25. They spent the winter there. Next they came up the valley to Mission Bottom where they spent a year or more working and looking for a place to settle. They moved to a farm south of Salem.

“Mrs. Mary Jory of Salem Died Last Night; Came to Oregon in Year 1858 – Mary Budd Jory, widow of Hugh S. Jory, Oregon Pioneer and resident of Salem for more than half a century, died last night at the family home, 967 South Commercial St. Death was due to a paralytic stroke which Mrs. Jory suffered four weeks ago.

Surviving Mrs. Jory are two sons – Oliver Jory, 967 South Commercial St. Salem and Charles Jory of Stockton, Calif.

Three grandchildren also survive. Three sons are dead, one succumbing in infancy, while Alfred and Ralph were drowned in the Willamette River at Salem in 1879. The husband of deceased died in Salem, January 4, 1912.

Mary Jory was born in Pike County, Illinois, February 17, 1837, and was married January 22, 1857 to Hugh S. Jory in Pike County. The year following her marriage she came to Oregon with her husband by way of the isthmus. They came direct to Marion County and settled on a farm in what is now known as the Rosedale District. In the winter of 1860-61 Mrs. Jory and her husband moved to Salem. The house where Mrs. Jory died has been the family home ever since 1866.

The Jorys lived on Cottage St. when they first came to Salem. Salem then was then but a village and only five houses were built south of Mill Creek when the Jory house was erected.

Mrs. Jory for years was active in the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Salem. She had been a member of the Leslie Methodist Episcopal church here for twenty-five years.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later." [Daily Oregon Salem Statesman 3-19-1915]

"H. S. JORY, who passed away January 4, 1912, was for many years identified with the business interests of Salem, as a dealer in fruit driers. He built up an excellent trade in the face of difficulties and obstacles which would have utterly discouraged many a man of less resolute spirit, and he based "his success upon the sure and stable foundation of honorable and persevering effort. He was born in St. John, New Brunswick, on the 28th of November, 1833, coming of a family of English origin, his parents being James and Mary (Stevens) Jory, who came to America from England in 1831 after their marriage. They located in New Brunswick, where they resided for six years before removing to St. Louis, Missouri. Subsequently they removed to Pike county, Illinois, and lived there ten years before settling in Brown county, Illinois. Having heard much of the possibilities which the far west offered, they set out in 1847 to cross the plains with ox teams. They came direct to Oregon and located near Salem upon a donation land claim of six hundred and forty acres. The log cabin which they erected for their home was covered with a clapboard roof and had puncheon floor and door. They resided here until their deaths. To them ten children were born, two of whom survive, Thomas and William.

After receiving his education in the common schools H. S. Jory assisted his father at home until he was twenty- one years of age. At that time he learned the carpenter's trade and later patented a fruit drier. He engaged in promoting the sale of his drier and was manager of the firm of H. S. Jory & Son, manufacturers of fruit driers and fixtures. The business has constantly grown in importance and it is now one of the important industrial and commercial concerns of the town, while its owner became one of the substantial residents of Salem. He proved his worth in many public connections and his fellow townsmen, recognizing his ability and loyalty in citizenship, frequently called upon him for various public services.

On January 27, 1857, Mr. Jory was married to Miss Mary Budd, whose birth occurred in Pike county, Illinois, in January, 1837, and who is a daughter of Aaron and Phoebe Budd. Two of Mr. Jory's brothers married two sisters of his wife. To Mr. and Mrs. Jory five children have been born: Charles, who is a resident of Stockton, California; Oliver, who is in business with his father; Oscar, who died in infancy; and Alfred and Ralph, deceased. The two last named were drowned in the Willamette river.

In politics Mr. Jory gives his support to the prohibition party during his later years but in early life was a republican. He served as justice of the peace for four years. He was a member of the Good Templars and held membership in the Methodist church of Salem, to which his wife also belongs. Because of his long residence in Oregon he witnessed much of the growth and up building of Salem and this part of the state. His close application in business and his excellent management brought him a good competence, and he was thus able to leave his family in comfortable circumstances." [Centennial History of Oregon by Joseph Gaston Vol III p.406-409]

"JORY, HUGH S.--Born in St. Johns, New Brunswick, in November, 1833; present residence, South Salem. Occupation, wagon and carriage maker. Married in 1857 to Miss Mary Budd, who came to Oregon in that year. Their children were Charles, Oliver, Allie, and Ralph. The two latter were drowned in the Willamette in 1879." [History of the Willamette Valley by Herbert O. Lang p.678]

"DIES AT SOUTH SALEM HOME--Early Oregon Pioneer Goes to Reward after Long and Useful Life--H. S. Jory Passes Away After Several Months Illness--Was Well Known--Hugh Steven Jory died at his home on South commercial street yesterday at the age of 78 years, after an illness that had gradually enfeebled him for several months past. Mr. Jory was one of the early pioneers of Oregon, coming to this state in 1847. He was born at St. Johns, New Brunswick, November 28, 1833, and in 1853 was married to Miss Mary Budd, who survives him. He was one of six brothers to come west and one of three to marry three sisters, the Budd girls. Two of his brothers survive him--Thomas Jory, 87 years of age, who lives in South Salem, and William Jory, age 82 years, of the Red Hills. Two children also survive him, Charles of Stockton, California, and Oliver of this city. Two children, Allie and Ralph, were drowned in the Willamette river in 1879. He was a member of the Good Templars and was once active in the Grange. Four years ago he retired from active mechanical labor, but was still a busy man until he began to suffer from stomach trouble a few months ago. His son, Charles Jory, is expected from California for the funeral, which will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Leslie Methodist church in South Salem. The services will be conducted by Rev. W. S. Gordon of Woodburn, who was a former pastor at the Leslie church. Interment will be in the I.O.O.F. cemetery." [Weekly Oregon Statesman, 5 Jan 1912 1:4]

DROWNED--Sad case of the drowning of two little boys in the Willamette river-- About 5 o'clock yesterday morning the deep tones of the fire bell brought many of our citizens on the streets at perhaps an earlier hour than they would otherwise have appeared. The cause of the alarm was not fire, but a much more solemn one--that of "children lost," which when even spoken sends a thrill of excitement to everyone's heart. The alarm was soon spread that two little boys, sons of H. S. and Mary Jory of South Salem were lost and could not be found. The story as told us by the sorrowing parent is as follows: Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock p.m. two of his little boys, Alfred [sic] and Ralph, aged respectively ten and five years strayed away from home and proceeded down the road towards the covered bridge. No particular notice was paid to them and they were not missed until the evening meal. Upon not appearing at that time fears began to arise of their being lost and search was immediately commenced. Many of the citizens joined in hunting the little wanderers but they were nowhere to be found. The last that could be heard of them was that they were playing around the large wheel in the street opposite the Flouring Mill, about 6:30 o'clock in the evening. This led some to think of the river and hastening that way, 'twas but a few moments until their hats were found, and immediately under them in about nine feet of water, the bodies were found, lying about five feet apart. Last Sunday Mr. Jory took the boys into a skiff and went over to the island, just across the slough and spent several hours in picking berries and other kinds of amusements. It is supposed that the little fellows went down to the river and in attempting to get into the skiff, from the hull of the Luckiamute Chief--which was about five feet distant, and where the bodies were found--they missed their footing and fell in. This is only supposition as no human eye witnessed the sight, and the exact cause will ever remain a mystery. The grief stricken parents have the heart-felt sympathy of every one. The funeral will take place today from the residence at 11 o'clock. Rev. F. P. Tower officiating. Friends of the family are invited." [Weekly Oregon Statesman 27 June 1879 1:5]

A MISTAKE--In our notice of the drowning of the little sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jory we were in error in stating the the children had been taken across to the Island on the Sunday before in a skiff, he only having taken a walk with them around the upper end of the slough, more than a mile from the place of drowning.” [Weekly Oregon Statesman 17 June 1:9]

DROWNED About 5:00 yesterday morning the deep tones of the fire bell brought many of our citizens out on the streets at perhaps an earlier hour than they otherwise would have appeared.....Thursday afternoon about 3:00 pm two of H.S. Jory’s little boys, Alford and Ralph, aged respectively ten and five years strayed away from home and proceeded down the road towards the covered bridge. No particular notice was paid to them and they were not missed until the evening meal. Upon not appearing at that time fears began to arise of their being lost and search was immediately commenced. Many of the citizens joined in hunting the little wanderers, but they were no where to be found. The last that could be heard of them was that they were playing around the large wheel in the street opposite the Flouring Mill, about 6:30 in the evening. This led some to think of the river and hastening that way, ‘twas but a few moments until their hats were found, and immediately under them in about nine feet of water, the bodies were found, lying about five feet apart.
